

Michael Canic – Bio

Michael Canic is the president and Chief Flagbearer of Making Strategy Happen, a high-impact, consulting firm that helps committed leaders turn ambition into strategy, and strategy into reality.

Previously, he managed the consulting division of The Atlanta Consulting Group. Prior to that, at FedEx, he had responsibility for implementing service quality strategy in field operations.

A compelling speaker, Michael has delivered more than 600 presentations to audiences on four continents and has been awarded the highest earned designation in the professional speaking industry.

His book, Ruthless Consistency: How committed leaders execute strategy, implement change, and build organizations that win, became a #1 bestseller and was selected by the Enterpriser's Institute as one of the "Top 10 leadership books to stretch your skills in 2021".

Michael received a PhD in the psychology of human performance during which time he studied with future Nobel Prize winner, Daniel Kahneman. He is also a former national championship-winning college football coach, and has been selected for Marshall Goldsmith's 100 Coaches global initiative.

An adventure traveler, Michael and wife Bernadine have been to more than 40 countries. He has journeyed by camel in the Sahara, trekked the mountains of Northern Pakistan, and, for some inexplicable reason, swum with piranha in the Amazon.
